Re: Johanna Pratt

Ms. Johanna Pratt was a student teacher in my grade 5 classroom for 9 weeks. Her assignment consisted of teaching math, social studies, language arts, science and health to a classroom of 27 students. As well, she taught science and health to another grade 5 class of 28 students. Throughout these subjects she taught a variety of units, mini-units and specific lessons to cover the assigned curriculum. She also presented a service learning project to the school with her language arts poetry unit.

Ms. Pratt presented herself with professionalism and a collaborative mindset. She worked diligently to make her lessons engaging. In order to best reach all students she was continually asking for feedback and planning effectively to make necessary improvements in her delivery. Additionally she was always kind and encouraging towards students which gives credence to her love of teaching.

Ms. Pratt would certainly be a valuable asset to any school community she works with. With her growth mindset as a learner and educator she will continue to grow as a teacher with further experience.
